About competition

Every start-up project, be it the development of a new deposit or implementation of innovative idea entails high risks. According to the statistics, a very small number of start-up projects succeeds at building a successful business model and becoming a profitable enterprise. The two most common causes of failure are obvious: lack of buyers or funds.

Most start-ups have limited access to experts, financiers or investors. Many have little or no skills in preparing marketing presentation.

To help entrepreneurs and start-ups, the organisers of the MINEX Central Asia created MineVenture – an international competition of start-up mining and technology projects.

Who is invited to present?

MINEX Central Asia Forum invites junior mining companies, entrepreneurs and innovators to present projects in the following categories:

Prospecting and exploration

Projects proposed for the study and exploration of mineral deposits in the Republic of Kazakhstan, Kyrgyz Republic, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan and Mongolia.

Breakthrough technology and innovation

Modernisation or development of new technology or equipment for the discovery, extraction, enrichment and processing of ores and minerals.

New technology for improving production efficiency or reducing costs.

What do you gain by participating in MineVenture competition?

- You will have an opportunity to attract attention of potential investors, financiers and business angles to your project.
- You will receive advice and professional coaching from seasoned investors and leading experts.
- You will be able to disseminate information about your project and receive feedback from professional audience attending the Forum.
- Successful projects will be nominated for MineVenture awards and listed in the Forum special report
